REACH COMPLIANCE

The European law on chemicals, REACH Regulation (EC) No 1907/2006, came into force in June 2007. The legislation requires companies manufacturing or importing substances within the European Union above certain volumes to register the substances and their uses with the European Chemicals Agency.

Under the regulations, Hainenko Limited are downstream users or importers of substances and we have therefore been working to ensure that all non-exempt substances in our products have been pre-registered in accordance with the REACH regulations.

In this respect, we hereby declare that:

- All our Suppliers have confirmed pre-registration of the substances in their products according to REACH.
- We have no reason to cancel any of our products in relation to REACH
- On the strength of our experience, no products in our range contain substances included in the list of especially dangerous substances (Substances of Very High Concern – SVHC) as issued by the ECHA in a concentration >0.1% w/w.

Hainenko Limited does not have any direct registration obligations. We do, however, recognize our continuing role in achieving full compliance with the legal requirements of REACH by the communication of sufficient information to relevant stakeholders regarding the volumes and usages of the substances in our products.
